DESPITE VICTORY

Overhead Passing of the Blue Surpassed by Williams-town Men.

Jordan, Neale, Neidlinger and Kelley Show Flashes of Offensive Speed.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald.
NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21.—Yale beat Williams this afternoon 38 to 0, but there is no bonfire on the campus this evening on the victory over the Massachusetts men. Williams put forth a light, weak team, not as good as the one that held Capt. Aldrich's men to 23 points last year, and was unable to cope with the Yale attack in running up 38 points.

Yale used some of her new spread plays and varied the offense when inside of the fifteen yard line, to a great extent that was pleasing to the followers of the Blue, who have been accustomed to see straight football all the way over the 100 yards of the Bowl's turf. The attack was rugged, however, and the overhead passing game of the Blue was worse. Williams was far better in forward passing and lacked in a manner that made the Yale men look like beginners.

Not every ten Yale tackles after Bill Mallory cut out in the second quarter were around the caps of the Williams-town men. Yale especially being at fault in this department. Many a Williams yard was gained because of the above, the neck grips of the Jones pupils. Against a team such as the Army is going to throw against Yale next Saturday such tackling as shown today, will be fatal.

There was very little in Yale's game today that will warrant the belief that the Blue team will be able to cope successfully with any first class eleven. There were offensive flashes, however, speed by Capt. Jordan, Neale, Neidlinger and Kelley, but when one takes into consideration the defense the Yale attack is nullified. The Yale men have yet to learn the art of stopping the forward pass was demonstrated today.

Williams did fairly well and was successful in several attempts. In the final minutes of play, with the ball at mid-field, Mallory shot a pass to Chandler, who broke off for a yard and a half, dodged two more and finally broke to a clear field for what looked like a sure touchdown. Hart, substitute end, was the only man who stepped up to the attack. He was given better interference than most Yale halfbacks have had during the past few years. Jordan also did well in hitting the line and in punting the ball. The Yale coach made a touchdown in this quarter, after Neidlinger covered forty yards in running back a punt. Neidlinger was not far behind Neale in fleethood of foot. Neidlinger and Neale picked up thirty-three yards in a march toward the Williams goal in the second quarter soon after it opened. Jordan then circled Pease's end for nine yards and a touchdown. Dan Casey added ten points to Yale's total in the final period, getting a field goal from the 22 yard line, a touchdown on an end run a few moments later and a goal from touchdown. It was when the teams were battling in the center of the field that a forward pass to Chandler was pulled off and the spectators to their feet. It was Williams' luck to have the game end with that play. Capt. Beynton, Monjo and Mallory did the best work for Williams.

Cochrane Makes Run.
Late in the quarter Knapp hurried a forward pass to Cochrane, who, catching the ball on the dead run, ran for twenty-two yards to the 12 yard line on the next play. Cochrane darted between Laws and Pease for a touchdown. Dan Casey added ten points to Yale's total in the final period, getting a field goal from the 22 yard line, a touchdown on an end run a few moments later and a goal from touchdown. It was when the teams were battling in the center of the field that a forward pass to Chandler was pulled off and the spectators to their feet. Vermont Springs Surprise by Defeat of Dartmouth

Two Field Goals Beat Green, 6 to 3.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald.
HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Dartmouth suffered its first defeat of the season today when the University of Vermont sprang a decided surprise and defeated the Green team by a score of 6 to 3. The Vermont team displayed a power far in excess of that which they showed in the earlier games of the season and outplayed the Green the greater part of the contest.

Driscoll scored first for Vermont, kicking a field goal from the 27 yard line. No further scoring came until the third period, when Neidlinger came back from the Green line and recorded a place kick from the 38 yard strip. In the fourth period Georgetown scored by the aerial route for Vermont.

The game ended with Dartmouth in possession of the ball on Vermont's 1 yard line after a rallying march down the field by the Vermont players. Capt. Johnson and Beck were individual stars for the visiting team, while Neidlinger and Moore stood out in Dartmouth's line. The lineup:

FORDHAM FUMBLES HELP GEORGETOWN

ner in the Maroon backfield, fumbled Flavin's punt on his own 20 yard line. As the oval ricocheted along the ground, Georgetown fullback, came storming in its pocket, and with no enemy in front, sprinted twenty yards to a third touchdown, while two Fordham would-be tacklers ran frantically at his heels in vain.

A fumble that paved the way for Fordham's first score of the game, it came in the middle of the second period, when Georgetown's 40 yard line, where Healy recovered a ball dropped by Flavin. He carried it back five yards before he was brought to earth, and a fifteen yard penalty for roughing, dealt by the referee, gave Georgetown a new drive. The necessary yardage was brought by the ball fifteen yards from Georgetown's goal. It was on the first play following that Myers broke through a huge gap in the Blue and Gray line for a brilliant twenty yard zigzag run, probably the most sparkling individual play of the game. Myers was as elusive as an eel as he slipped by one blocker after another and kept his feet until tucked just over the goal line.

Enthusiasm ran high in the Fordham section of the stands then, and higher still when scarcely two minutes later Myers' high punting punt rolled to Georgetown's 20 yard line, where Flavin fumbled again. Leeko was Fordham's rescue this time. And to behold the Maroon attack seemed to gain new life. It was first down in three rushes, and the ball on Georgetown's 12 yard line. McDonough plunged through for another five yard gain, and then a fourth down on the Blue and Gray's 2 yard line and one yard needed for a first down. This was to be a contest after all. Myers made a great effort to force the necessary yardage on the next plunge through the line, but Georgetown made a gallant stand, refusing to budge an inch and took the ball on the 2 yard line.

With the advent of Lowe, a substitute back, in the third period, Georgetown for the first time in the game began to show some offensive attack. Lowe got on a run and kept his feet splendidly on fast outside of tackle following a double pass or a dash from a fake kick formation. He had very little interference to aid him in his advance, but he had the faculty of finding his openings, and of dodging tacklers effectively. Lowe also was on the receiving end of a number of successful Georgetown, sticking to its open attack, made another threatening advance soon after, advancing again to within striking distance, but Fordham again showed its mettle by holding down the line on its 4 yard line. A forward pass carried the ball into the Maroon's territory in the fourth period, but when Fordham fumbled the ball on the 35 yard line, it dropped back to the 35 yard line and kicked a beautiful goal for the last three points of Georgetown's total.

Fordham not only began to fathom Georgetown's forward pass game after that but showed some ability of its own in that direction. Three successful flings from Myers to McDonough starting from Georgetown's 40 yard line had a lot to do with the second Maroon touchdown.

GEORGETOWN TECH MATH FOR NAVY

Midshipmen Score Twice and Outplay Georgians in All Periods.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald.
ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 21.—Naval Academy won a brilliantly contested game with Georgetown Tech this afternoon by a score of 13 to 0.

Touchdowns were scored in the first and second quarters. It distinctly outplayed the Georgians in all the quarters and scored two other scores by narrow margins.

As for the famous shift, the Navy found it entirely ineffective. The powerful and active line of the Navy generally found the shift of the Georgians and Barron could undoubtedly have gained more ground behind a more simple protective formation.

There was no special star in the Navy backfield this afternoon. Barron, credited with being its most brilliant runner, was effective at times in running from scrimmage, but did not do well in running back. Barron and McKee were specially effective in short line gains on off tackle plays. The Navy captain did remarkable work in knocking down Tech's forward pass plays. These were always slanted.

Cullen's kicking was a gratifying feature. For three seasons the Navy has been a pass-carrying team, but this afternoon Cullen's kicking was the leather for forty-five to fifty yards.

In spite of his bad muff in the final period, which caused the Navy to lose a touchdown, Cullen's kicking was a feature of the game. In the first quarter he ran after taking the ball on a crisis-carrying 12-yard dash to the goal, and put the Navy in a position to score. In the second quarter he did score on a fifteen yard run after getting a long pass.

Conroy kicked off for the Navy, Barron running to the 20 yard line, Flavin's punt on his own 20 yard line. As the oval ricocheted along the ground, Georgetown fullback, came storming in its pocket, and with no enemy in front, sprinted twenty yards to a third touchdown, while two Fordham would-be tacklers ran frantically at his heels in vain.

A fumble that paved the way for Fordham's first score of the game, it came in the middle of the second period, when Georgetown's 40 yard line, where Healy recovered a ball dropped by Flavin. He carried it back five yards before he was brought to earth, and a fifteen yard penalty for roughing, dealt by the referee, gave Georgetown a new drive. The necessary yardage was brought by the ball fifteen yards from Georgetown's goal. It was on the first play following that Myers broke through a huge gap in the Blue and Gray line for a brilliant twenty yard zigzag run, probably the most sparkling individual play of the game. Myers was as elusive as an eel as he slipped by one blocker after another and kept his feet until tucked just over the goal line.

Enthusiasm ran high in the Fordham section of the stands then, and higher still when scarcely two minutes later Myers' high punting punt rolled to Georgetown's 20 yard line, where Flavin fumbled again. Leeko was Fordham's rescue this time. And to behold the Maroon attack seemed to gain new life. It was first down in three rushes, and the ball on Georgetown's 12 yard line. McDonough plunged through for another five yard gain, and then a fourth down on the Blue and Gray's 2 yard line and one yard needed for a first down. This was to be a contest after all. Myers made a great effort to force the necessary yardage on the next plunge through the line, but Georgetown made a gallant stand, refusing to budge an inch and took the ball on the 2 yard line.

With the advent of Lowe, a substitute back, in the third period, Georgetown for the first time in the game began to show some offensive attack. Lowe got on a run and kept his feet splendidly on fast outside of tackle following a double pass or a dash from a fake kick formation. He had very little interference to aid him in his advance, but he had the faculty of finding his openings, and of dodging tacklers effectively. Lowe also was on the receiving end of a number of successful Georgetown, sticking to its open attack, made another threatening advance soon after, advancing again to within striking distance, but Fordham again showed its mettle by holding down the line on its 4 yard line. A forward pass carried the ball into the Maroon's territory in the fourth period, but when Fordham fumbled the ball on the 35 yard line, it dropped back to the 35 yard line and kicked a beautiful goal for the last three points of Georgetown's total.

Fordham not only began to fathom Georgetown's forward pass game after that but showed some ability of its own in that direction. Three successful flings from Myers to McDonough starting from Georgetown's 40 yard line had a lot to do with the second Maroon touchdown.
